BURGLARY CASE IS DISMISSED

Frank Shultz Has his Burglary Case not pressed but is now Awaiting Hearing on Charges of Assault and Pointing a Gun.

Frank Shultz, arrested several weeks ago by Detective Charles H. Wilson in Cumberland, charged with the burglary of the home of Mervin Van Dyke between Gettysburg and Biglerville last summer was given a habeas corpus hearing before Judge Swope on Tuesday afternoon. He was represented by William Hersh, Esq. The case was not pressed for lack of evidence but should new evidence be obtained within a period of ten years he may be re-arrested on the same charge.

Shultz, however, has not been given his freedom, Mr. Wilson having served two additional warrants on him on Monday, the one charging assault and battery and the other pointing a gun. A hearing will be held in these cases by Squire Hill on Thursday. The affair out of which the issuing of these warrants grew was a fight alleged to have occurred between Shultz and John Saylor, of Franklin township, several years ago.

Mrs. Saylor is now in the county jail charged with receiving stolen goods in connection with the Van Dyke burglary and she will be held for trial at court. She was arrested in Cumberland by Mr. Wilson at the same time the Shultz arrest was made.

PRETTY TOWN HOME WEDDING

Miss Mary Belle Pheasant, of Baltimore Street, becomes Bride of Pennsylvania Railroad Registry Clerk. Noon Wedding.

At noon today a pretty home wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Pheasant, on Baltimore street, when their daughter, Miss Mary Belle Pheasant was married to James D. Wilson, of Altoona.

The ceremony took place in the presence of a small number of friends and was performed by the Rev. D. W. Woods, pastor of the Presbyterian church, the ring service being used. The home was prettily decorated with potted plants.

The Lohengrin wedding march was played by Miss Ruth Hamilton of this place. The bride wore a handsome gown of blue silk, hand embroidered. The bridesmaid was Miss Cornelia Widney, of Chambersburg. She wore a gown of pink silk and carried pink and white carnations. The best man was David Pheasant, of Gettysburg.

The bride, though a resident of this place for but a few years, has a large circle of friends in Gettysburg. She has been spending the past few months in Altoona, her former home. Mr. Wilson is chief registry clerk in the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Altoona where they will live.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson left at four o'clock this afternoon for New York and Philadelphia. They will return to Gettysburg for a brief visit before going to Altoona.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Lippy left this morning for Washington to attend the national tailors' convention and style show. From there they will go to Philadelphia and New York.

REIGN OF TERROR

F. C. Mentzer, son of Daniel Mentzer, Edgemont, is experiencing much inconvenience and trouble as a result of the Mexican insurrection.

Mr. Mentzer is terminal superintendent of the National Railway at Juarez, Mexico. Several days ago the insurgents dynamited a long train of cars and burned several of the bridges on the line in his charge. He sent out a construction train to replace the burned bridges and bring in the wrecked train. A heavy guard must be kept along the line of work for fear that the insurgents will make them prisoners.

Mr. Mentzer says the City of Juarez is not a comfortable place. It is now under martial law and foreigners have no rights. The American consul can do nothing for anyone under arrest as citizens of this country have no legal status under existing conditions. Arrests are made with no explanation, and no information will be given to friends of the imprisoned.

Mr. Mentzer went west when only 19 years of age and engaged in railroading and has been in that business since.

KILLED THREE GROUND HOGS

Three of the little weather prophets that live in the boulders and rocks to be found on all sides of Pen Mar have paid the penalty of folly. They took it for granted that they would not be able to see their shadows February 2, and wandered so far away from their holes during the morning of that day that when the sun came out after noon they couldn't get back.

"Tramp," a small hound belonging to Mrs. George Ladd, proprietress of Mount Royal Inn, got wind of their predicament and during the intervening days has killed all three of them.

The last of the trio weighed 34 pounds after being dressed and was served on the table of the hostelry. Those partaking of it pronounce it very fine.

MAN'S INJURIES PROVE SERIOUS

What was First Thought to be a Scalp Wound Proves to be a Fractured Skull. Injury Sustained in Tom's Creek Trestle Wreck.

Injured in the wreck at Tom's Creek on December 4 when thirteen coal cars rolled down a twenty foot embankment, George H. Folk, flagman of the train, is now recovering from an operation January 23 which revealed a fractured skull instead of a mere scalp wound which was all that was at first apparent.

A few days after the accident Mr. Folk, who is a resident of Hanover, was able to be on the street, and no serious results were anticipated. Several weeks later, however, he began to suffer excruciating pain in his head and his mind became affected.

The family physician, Dr. H. M. Alleman, advised his removal to a hospital for treatment, and on January 9th, accompanied by Dr. Alleman, he was taken to the Union Protestant Infirmary, in Baltimore, where he underwent an operation January 23d. The operation, which was successful, revealed a fracture of the skull and clots of blood on the brain. Since the operation he is rational, and is getting along nicely, with the exception of his limbs, at this time being unable to walk a step, and has very little, if any control of his arms. The doctors in charge of the case at the hospital, give Mrs. Folk every assurance that he will regain his usual health of body and mind.

The condition of Mr. Folk compelled the family to remove from Hanover to Alesia, Maryland, so that his wife can visit him more frequently at the hospital.

COAL GIVEN FARMERS

Saturday night a very destructive freight wreck occurred on the Western Maryland railroad near Chambersburg, when the greater part of the train was thrown from the tracks and piled on a heap in a ditch. The cause of the accident was a broken rail or a broken flange.

Some of the cars were loaded with coal, and the residents of the neighborhood were given the coal for hauling it away. A car of pianos was also among the wreck, but the instruments will be little damaged. Several other cars of merchandise, which were reduced to kindling, were burned. The loss will amount to several thousand dollars.

FUN IN A TOYSHOP

At last, after many weary seasons, we have a comic opera that is vastly amusing with a strong plot full of surprising situations that are droll, comic and original. The stage has seldom seen a prettier opera, full of gaiety and merriment, and everybody will want to see it at the Walter Theatre where "The Jollities" present it on Saturday, February 18, matinee and evening only. This merry company carry their own rich costumes and beautiful scenery and are called very skillful comedians, singers and dancers. Their performance is of the highest character and attracts immense audiences. It was a clever idea of a clever man to make an opera from his own book based upon a simple theme that would reach every heart. To read the book before hearing the opera is an added pleasure.

KURIOS FROM KORRESPONDENTS

Q. As a result of hatching Brown Leghorns I find most of my young stock is about perfect in plumage and head points, but their legs are green. Does this disqualify them? Would you breed from them? How do you account for the leg color?

A. Yes; standard demands yellow. We would not breed from them except for utility. They seem to be crossed with Game.

Q. I am building a house 100 by 12 and ask your advice in regard to partitions. Should they be wire or solid and how many?

A. You should put in two solid partitions with doors. A house so long without them would have drafts and the body warmth of the fowls would be too much dissipated. Divide the rest of space with wire to suit needs.

Q. How may I keep Leghorns from freezing their combs in a locality where the temperature at night often drops to 30 degrees below?

A. You do not state size of your house, as that has much to do with it. Say your house is 20 by 12, nine feet high in front and seven in rear. By bunching thirty to thirty-five on a roost they would radiate enough body heat to save their combs, though dirty dropping boards with frozen filth or drafty ventilation might offset the natural heat. Many build a roosting closet or closed roost, which when kept clean and properly ventilated is all O. K.

FEATHERS AND EGGSHHELLS.

Have you ever thought of the enormous poultry resources of Uncle Sam when he so easily meets the great holiday demand, feeds those preachers every day in the year and notwithstanding raises more fowls each year than ever?

If you are arguing that it pays no better to raise pure breeds than others we ask you to note the following: A nearby farmer raises ordinary turkeys and this year sold market and breeding turkeys from the same bunch at 20 cents per pound. William J. Morton of Allentown, Pa., sold two young ten pound White Hollands to Laura G. Coover of Pittsburg for $25, or $1.25 per pound.

A baker in Philadelphia pleaded not guilty to using rots and spots. The prosecution produced twenty-four eggs seized at his bakery. They were broken, and twenty-three were rotten and the twenty-fourth of doubtful quality. The evidence against him being so strong, he changed his plea at once, but the judge fined him $200 and costs.

Four thousand fowls, consisting of 2,200 turkeys and the rest geese, ducks and chickens, were rounded up at Hatfield, Pa., for the annual Thanksgiving sale. Most of them were brought from Maryland and Virginia. Philadelphia dealers bought in nearly the whole bunch.

It would be quite interesting to see a chicken quiz in which judges licensed by the American Poultry association and those not should be lined up against each other. Rather think the association would revoke a few when the examination was through.

Diplomas are a handy thing to hang up on a wall.

They nicely cover up fly spots Or where plaster doth fall.

But, though they be a whole mile wide, They cannot hide a fool.

You can't make Christians with sheep-skins Nor graft brains on a mule.

When a fancier or business man knocks and says business is dead, and he's sick of it and there's nothin' in it, and everything's going to the eternal bow-wow-wow, look for his ad., put on your grandmother's magnifying specs and look again. Bet you a cow it's infinitesimally small or it's not there at all.

"Poultry Notes" is not simply a product of burning midnight oil, but is a record of trial, success, hard handed toil. We do not strive with Shakespeare to compete, nor do we serve a literary treat, but strive to make the humble product of our pen a means to make a more productive hen.

When you have leisure make repairs to your incubators and brooders. Paint your brooders different colors and the chicks will not crowd into one.

Eating snow is a poor substitute for water and is neither conducive to digestion or egg production. When hens are allowed to run in cold rains and slop round in slush and cold mud it has the same effect.

B. M. Tammitt.

A pretty good resolution to carry out in this new year is to walk on the sunny side of the road. If there is no sunshine on either side it will be a thoughtful thing to scatter a bit in the shape of a cheery word or friendly act. There is enough shadow at best without staying in it needlessly or doing anything that will tend to increase its volume.
